COMMUNITY MEETINGS
FOR A PROPOSED
FOOD FACILITY GRADING SYSTEM

Alameda County Department of Environmental Health is in the process of developing a food facility grading system in order to provide the Public a means to make dining decisions at a glance.

We would like to hear your views and concerns and provide education to the business community and the general public in order to develop the most user friendly and efficient system possible.

The focus of the meetings will be on the grading system components

- Overview of the Health & Safety Code (Cal Code)
- Focus on CDC Risk Factor violations and their importance
- Official Inspection Report form and routine inspection scoring
- What other California counties have done for food facility grading
- Red/Yellow/Green placards as indicators of inspection results
- Why placards as opposed to letter grades
- How to get and maintain a Green placard
- Expected Outcomes
